

FOR DINNER HINTS FOR THANKSGIVING

Is Most Important of Year in Housekeepers'
Calendar.

ON MAKE DINERS
FORGET FOOTBALL

Age Feast Leaves Little Desire in Partakers for Any Exertion.

Thanksgiving dinner is a very important one in the calendar of the housekeeper. It is not her fault that day has come to be considered one given over largely to football and excitement, but since it has, there is no reason why she should not so well attend to her part of the ceremonies as to make them memorable in the year's past.

As a matter of fact, the ordinary Thanksgiving dinner is a heavy meal which makes its partakers feel uncomfortable, and unwilling to leave their residences even to see their favorite football team "kick" their next orle team.

He place de resistance is the turkey, course. How any American could eat thanks without this brown and useful bird those fortunate enough to have one do not understand. In many households he is flanked by a m. Smithfield in the home of the rich and great, and just plain ham in those of the poor. And there are served up and entree, vegetables, dessert, and various other things, until the dinner rears thoughts of indigestion, grows prudent to the winds, and—in elegant term—stuffs.

Hard to Eat Way Through.
I have lately looked over the menus suggested by some two or three dozen housekeepers for the Thanksgiving dinner, and almost all of these are so elaborate that anyone eating his way through all the courses must inevitably come to grief in the end.

Here is a menu for the home dinner which may aid some perplexed housekeeper in making out her own, and one that is comparatively simple:

Caviar Crisps.
Tomato Bisque.
Deviled Fish in Ramekins.
Roast Turkey.
Olives.
Cranberry Jelly.
Glaze Sweet Potatoes.
Cauliflower au Gratin. Mashed Potatoes.
Grape Fruit Salad.
Hot Mince Pie. Vanilla Ice Cream.
Neufchatel Cheese.
Toasted Biscuits. Coffee.

The caviar crisps may have substituted for them oysters on the half shell or oyster cocktail, if desired; a clear soup may take the place of the tomato bisque if the housekeeper thinks a "cream" soup too heavy for dinner, and may be included among the vegetables, and the salad may be asparagus, Waldorf, or sweetbread. Two vegetables should be sufficient for a dinner of so many courses, and ice cream is not a necessity for a dessert, but is given here because it now, as often accompanies hot mince pie, as green peas or mint sauce accompany lamb. The fact that dentists and physicians of hot and cold to be injurious to the teeth has no weight at the Thanksgiving dinner, likewise the physicians' protest against regarded—even by the physician.

Making Caviar Crisps.
Caviar Crisps—Remove the crusts from slices of white bread and cut into strips an inch wide and three inches long. Toast to a light brown and set aside to cool. Open a small can of caviar and rub into the contents a tablespoonful of olive oil and a teaspoonful of lemon juice. If the paste is not soft enough add more oil. Spread the crisp toast with this paste, garnish with sprigs of parsley and serve cold.
Deviled Fish—Pick cold, cooked fish into bits with a silver fork. Make a forcemeat of bread crumbs, the yolks of two eggs run through colander or vegetable press, a tablespoonful of melted butter, one of minced parsley, a teaspoonful of onion juice, paprika and salt. Mix with the fish, wet with milk and fill small ramekins with the mixture. Cover with fine crumbs, pepper and salt them, put a dot of butter on each, and bake quickly to a light brown.
Grape Fruit Salad—Take the pulp of the grape fruit from the skins, removing all the white and bitter fiber that is attached. Let the pulp become very cold before serving. Dress with a French or mayonnaise dressing, preferably the former.

Recipe for Mince-meat.
Mince-meat—Boil two pounds of lean beef, and add chop fine. Mince a pound of beef suet to a powder. Peel and chop five pounds of apples. Seed and halve two pounds of raisins. Wash and pick over carefully two pounds of cleaned currants and one pound of sultana raisins. Cut into tiny bits three-quarters of a pound of citron.
Mix these ingredients, adding as you do so two tablespoonfuls each of cinnamon and mace, a tablespoonful each of cloves and allspice, a teaspoonful of ground nutmeg, a tablespoonful of salt and two and a half pounds of brown sugar. When all is well mixed stir in a quart of sherry and a pint of the best brandy. Mix thoroughly and pack in a stone crock. In making mince pies use the best puff paste and bake in a good even oven. Mince-meat is often used without liquor by persons who do not approve of alcoholic beverages.

Recipes for roasting turkey, for making cranberry jelly and preparing glazed sweet potatoes and cauliflower au gratin have recently appeared in this column. Turkey should be allowed to cook twelve minutes to the pound.

Washington Pie in Canada.
A Baltimore girl who is spending the winter in Canada writes that on the Canadian Thanksgiving Day, which is also the King's birthday, the dessert served for the dinner which she attended was Washington pie, which is surely a Yankee institution, and not at all suitable for our neighbors of the North. My correspondent says the pie was "a delicious combination of cake, oranges and whipped cream, as good as its name." LEONORE CALVERT.

The native purity and delicious flavor of "Salada" Tea is preserved by the use of sealed lead packets. Never sold in bulk. It is richer, more fragrant, and stronger than other teas.—Advt.

Nadinola Cream

Beautifies the complexion where other creams fail. Fifty cents and one dollar at all high-class drug stores. Sold by Henry Evans, People's Pharmacy, O'Donnell, Thompson, and other druggists.

STRIKING NEW YORK BEAUTY

COPYRIGHT 1908 MARCEAU

MISS MARJORIE GOULD,

Who Has Visited Washington Frequently as Miss Katherine Elkins' Guest.

ONE of the striking beauties in the younger set in New York this season is Miss Marjorie Gould, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Gould, who will be a debutante of the coming winter. Miss Gould is tall, a blonde and an unusually beautiful girl. The greater part of her childhood was spent at Lakewood, where Georgian Court, the Gould estate, is one of the show places of the country. Miss Gould is a striking counterpart of her mother, formerly Edith Klondike, the actress, and they are almost inseparable companions. She has visited Washington frequently in the last two years as the guest of Miss Katherine Elkins and was recently entertained at "Hallehurst," the Elkins, W. Va., home of Senator and Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins.

SOME SAMPLE TYPES WHOM YOU DISLIKE

Mischief-Maker, Hard-Luck Whiner, and Smarty Girl Listed in Category.

The girl who is not loved by her mates—no matter what the boys think of her—is the one who is always "rubbing in" her good times. A belle who sings her own praise has generally a jarring tone.
She who blows hot and cold. Steadfastness may not be exciting, but it is a good quality to pin to for daily use. The mischief-maker, either knowing or unknowing. Often the girl who can stir up the biggest rumpus in a set has not a malicious intention, but an unbridled tongue.
She who is a hard-luck whiner. Age may sometimes put up with complaining—youth never does.

The girl who shirks her share of the work, or slips out of bearing her end of the expenses.
The smarty girl, who delights in taking you down, and who can never be surprised or amused.
The girl who is jealous and not smart enough to spread the crisp toast of smoothing down hurt feelings or jarred tempers makes us weigh the worth of friendship.
The girl who is always falling into a rage. She may repent as quickly; but repentance is a poor salve for anger's wounds.
The ringleader in the mischief, who has not the courage of her misdoings. Blame-shirking is an air-line route to unpopularity.

NEW WAY WITH RUFF.
Women are quite used to this time to the tight pleated ruff that fits against the neck. They have seen it and worn it in all manner of materials. The new thing, however, is to have from three to six inch close wired pleating of flannel or lace put into the collar. This is used on Directoire coats that have no collars. The ruff is basted in around the neck and down the front, and fitted at the first button. It is quite effective.

SHORT BONES IN CORSETS.
It is interesting to know that while corsets are longer, the bones in them are shorter. They go over a part of the hip but do not go down to the end of the corset. These long bones were found disastrous, as they were constantly breaking or bending and pushing the corset into a curve below the waist.
Now the bones stop short enough to prevent breakage, and the corset is strapped and stitched and fitted to the figure for the rest of the length.

LOCAL MENTION.
Hotel Johnson Cafes.
Sea food in abundance direct from the catchers. Potomac Bass and Perch were never better. Wild Duck, Rabbit and Quail the good kind. Our Standard Steamed Oysters are really select. Service a la carte. Noon lunch and 6 o'clock table d'hôte dinner.
Preparations for Thanksgiving should include an order for Holmes' Delicious Homemade Mince and Pumpkin Pies, 20c each; also Homemade Milk Bread, 5c loaf. Delivered direct. Holmes Bakery, 1st and E sts. Phones Lincn. 1449 and 1441.

Children Prefer Rye Bread.
Its naturally sweet flavor, crisp crust and soft texture appeals to children. Enables careful mothers to substitute this wholesome loaf for unhealthy sweet meats and nick-nacks. When buying rye bread it is well to remember that the best—Berkery Rye Bread—costs no more than the ordinary kind. You will like it best.

Genuine Chili Con-Carne
Aids digestion. The Ranch, 807 F st. n.w.
1,000 Business Cards, special, $1.50;
1,000 Bill Heads, special, $1.75.
Dawson Print Shop, 807 9th n.w.

Atmore's Celebrated Mince Meat.
10c plum Pudding, 10c; fish roe, 12c; Cornish, 3c; Navy Catup, 12c; Quaker Matches, 10c; 30c bottles Table Sirup, 12c. J. T. D. Pyles' 12 stores.

SHY MAN CURSED BY HIS OWN FEAR

Longs to "Go It" With Others, But He Is a Fiasco as a Rogue.

The shy man longs to "go it" with the others, and curses himself every day for not being able to. He will, now and again, screwing up his courage by a tremendous effort, plunge into roughness. But it is a terrible fiasco, and after one or two feeble flounders, he crawls out again, limp and pitiable. His friends and relations make matters still more unpleasant for the poor boy (friends and relations are privileged to be more disagreeable than other people).

Not content with making fun of him among themselves, they insist on his seeing the joke. They mimic and caricature him for his own edification.

One, pretending to imitate him, goes outside, and comes in again in a ludicrously nervous manner, explaining to him afterward that this is the way he means the shy fellow—walks into a room; or, turning to him with, "This is the way you shake hands," proceeds to go through a comic pantomime with the rest of the room, taking hold of everyone's hand as if it were a hot pipe, and flabbily dropping it again.

And then they ask him why he blushes, and why he stammers, and why he always speaks in an almost inaudible tone, as if they thought he did it on purpose.

Then one of them, sticking out his chest, and strutting about the room, like a pouter pigeon, suggests quite seriously that it is the style he should adopt.

The old man slaps him on the back and says, "Be bold, my boy. Don't be afraid of anyone."
The mother says, "Never do anything that you need be ashamed of, Algernon, and then you never will be ashamed of anything you do," and, beaming mildly at him, seems surprised at the closeness of her own logic. The boy tells him that he's "worse than a girl," and the girls repudiate the implied slur upon their sex by indignantly exclaiming that they are sure no girl would be half as bad.

THE ONE-PIECE TUNIC.

Among the prettiest of the new fashions is the one-piece tunic that looks like a long coat. It is tight fitting, fastened double-breasted with two large buttons, and cut away sharply from the lower one to the hem. It differs from a coat, in that it has no collar or revers, and is placed over a v-neck of lace or net. This is quite elaborate. It is trimmed with gold lace, embroidered net bands, and sometimes bullion thread. A few of these tunics show hettles over the shoulder of heavy embroidery done on the fabric. The skirt under such a tunic is usually of net or chiffon cloth.

SAFE FOR HIM.

Augustus—I'm quite afraid to call on Miss Smarteigh. They say she's a mind-reader.
Maria—Oh, you needn't get nervous about that.—Baltimore American.

Get Fat Free!

No Longer Need Men Be Skinny or Women Scrawny.

60c Box Mailed Free to Any Thin Person.

Thinness can be called a disease just as much as rheumatism, fever or cancer. And in many cases it is as dangerous to life, for the thin, emaciated, scrawny frame is not as capable of resisting many diseases as the fat, well-developed man or woman. Consumption, for example, finds its greatest number of victims among those who are underweight.

Fortunately, science has at last found what may well be called the fat-making principle, Sargol. At any rate, those who use Sargol soon find themselves gaining in weight, filling out their clothes in good, solid flesh, and gaining the flesh and development that takes them out of the class of skinny men and scrawny, unattractive women.

Do not think from its name that Sargol is an oil or greasy preparation that is disagreeable to take like cod liver oil and other remedies prescribed for thinness. Far from it. In dainty tablet form, it can be taken like candy, and so is pleasant to take that it may be given to delicate children or those in with years.

To spread as quickly as possible the knowledge of this simple treatment that without special diet or exercise, will put flesh on the thin and scrawny, a 50 cent package will be mailed free to anyone who wishes to weigh more, desires a better development, or who feels the need of greater vigor and strength. All that is necessary is to write the Sargol Company, 1550 Herald Building, Birmingham, N. Y., and enclose ten cents for distribution expenses, and give age and weight, and a 50 cent box will be mailed you free in plain envelope. Write today, so that you can get into the well-developed class before New Year's.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

Civil vs. Military Courts.

N.—It is a solecism to speak of either the civil or the military courts as being the highest. The civil and the military courts are independent of one another. There is no appeal from one to the other, either way, except in the infrequent cases where a writ of habeas corpus is invoked to bring an accused man to trial in the civil courts. This procedure has been followed to secure a jury trial for men committed to hospitals for the insane by military trial. Such cases have no bearing on the general fact that the civil court is supreme in its own field, and the military court is equally supreme and independent in its field. It should be added that there is an appeal from a military court to the head of the department, and thence to the President.

Virginia's Presidential Vote.

Reader.—The total vote of Virginia for Bryan was 52,838, and for Taft, 52,573. County results are not at hand.

No Home for Insane.

E. V. T.—There is no home for the feeble-minded in Washington. Patients of this class who become wards of the District are supported by the District in an institution near Baltimore, to which they are sent by the Board of Charities. It is true there are some patients who are feeble-minded at St. Elizabeth and at some private institutions; but none of these institutions are equipped to care for the feeble-minded properly, to train them, etc., and none willingly accept such patients for these reasons.

Employment Bureaus.

C. E. L.—There are at least fifteen employment offices in Washington. The list is sent you by mail.

Address of Edison.

Mrs. E. H.—Luther Burbank, naturalist-originator of new fruits and flowers, has his home in Santa Rosa, Cal. The address of Thomas A. Edison, the electrician, is West Orange, N. J.

Treatment of Eyes.

Mme. D.—An eye specialist should be consulted. Questionable treatment should not be used.

"Seeing Washington" Series.

L. K.—The articles published in The Times on places of interest in Washington are not published in book form, but are prepared each day by one of the staff reporters. You are at liberty to examine the files at any time to locate any one you might wish.

A Columbia half dollar is worth 61 cents.

NEW USE OF MAGNET.

Children have always thought a horse-shoe magnet just about the most fascinating thing in the world. They have drawn little ducks and geese across pans of water all day long with these bits of iron.

The newest use of it, however, is that invented by an English girl. She cannot stoop from her chair, and she contents herself with sewing and embroidering on her side. She has a horse-shoe magnet tied with colored ribbon, and whenever scissors or needle and thread come up to the floor she can bring them up with this magnet without calling any one to her assistance.

THE CHANGING STYLES.

"I saved an old feather duster, thinking to please my daughter."
"But it seems that penwipers is what they are using to trim hats with this fall."—Country Journal.

GRAY AND PINK VEILS.

Even on inclement days the girl of today wants to look her best. She does not wear any old hat and frock for fear of rain, but she dresses herself from head to foot in a costume built for the weather.

It is now her custom to save her good and expensive fish net veils for dry weather, so on wet days she wears a close face veil of deep rose pink chiffon and over this a thin veil of gray sewing silk.

These are snugly pinned over her hat, covering the trimming, and neatly tucked into place at the nape of the neck and at the top.

DESCRIPTIVE.

"I saw a sheath gown yesterday."
"How did it impress you?"
"It looked like somebody swinging a barber pole past a crack in a door."—Exchange.
